The Dasha Avatar is the Puranic story of the ten incarnations of Vishnu who descends to the terrestrial world to establish stability and order, time and again. The avatars occur in a sequence – the first was matsya or fish representing life in water, followed by kurma or turtle signifying life in water and on land, then varaha or boar alluding to terrestrial life and so on. The sequence of the avatars could be taken to symbolise various stages in the evolution of life culminating in the advent of the perfect being.

Dhyan Chand Luis Fernandes 1971-04-01 Dhyan Chand made India a super power in world hockey in pre-independence days. He humbled the Europeans who were till then regarded as masters of the game, and the Americans; demonstrated the finer points of the sport to the New Zealanders and Australians, and gave the Nazis a bloody nose when he led the Indian team to a 8 -1 victory over an ag-gressive German side in the 1936, Berlin Olympics. The story of Dhyan Chand is the story of Indian hockey at its very best. The game defined his personality and his life. He strove for the glory of his country, desiring nothing for himself. India reigned supreme in hockey during Dhyan's playing years and for some decades afterwards, earning our country the respect of the world.
